Top Ten Things Teachers Wish Parents Would Do

Brought to you by the National PTA®.

- 1 Be involved. Parent involvement helps students learn, improves schools, and helps teachers work with you to help your children succeed.
- 2 Provide resources at home for learning. Utilize your local library, and have books and magazines available in your home. Read with your children each day.
- 3 Set a good example. Show your children by your own actions that you believe reading is both enjoyable and useful. Monitor television viewing and the use of videos and game systems.
- 4 Encourage students to do their best in school. Show your children that you believe education is important and that you want them to do their best.
- 5 Value education and seek a balance between schoolwork and outside activities. Emphasize your children's progress in developing the knowledge and skills they need to be successful both in school and in life.
- 6 Recognize factors that take a toll on students' classroom performance: ? Consider the possible negative effects of long hours at after-school jobs or in extracurricular activities. Work with your children to help them maintain a balance between school responsibilities and outside commitments.
- 7 Support school rules and goals. Take care not to undermine school rules, discipline, or goals.
- 8 Use pressure positively. Encourage children to do their best, but don't pressure them by setting goals too high or by scheduling too many activities.
- 9 Call teachers early if you think there's a problem while there is still time to solve it. Don't wait for teachers to call you.
- 10 Accept your responsibility as parents. Don't expect the school and teachers to take over your obligations as parents. Teach children self-discipline and respect for others at home -- don't rely on teachers and schools to teach these basic behaviors and attitudes.
