

African American History Month

The rich, warm colors of Africa have been brightening the Social Studies hall at Regina this past month as the Department celebrates African American History Month. The contributions of African Americans have also been recognized every day during announcements as the brief biography of prominent historic or contemporary different African American man or woman is read.

For more African American Month posters, click here.