

Kindergarten News

The children have settled in to most of our routines and are happy to come to school each morning. They are confident and excited to show others all that they have learned and done so far. Almost every teacher who sees the children in the hallways and all of our "Specials" teachers compliment the children on their wonderful behavior. Thank you for all you've taught them.

In Religion, we learned that God made the water. We talked about all of the different living things that need water to survive. We also discussed how and why we should take care of the water.

This week we worked on the letters O-U. We are over half way through reviewing the alphabet. Some of the children are very familiar with the alphabet, while others will ask me what the letter is after they just worked on the letter. I ask that you take some time every day and review the letters.

We continued working on our "All About Me" books. The children are working very hard on writing in the information and then making the illustration match the words. Everyday they are excited to be adding another page to their books.

In Math, we began working with solid and plane shapes. The children are doing a very nice job remembering the names of the solid shapes. The children have enjoyed making some of the geometric solids as well as making patterns with cubes and links.

You should have received a note asking for some apple supplies. Please send in the item checked on the form on Monday. We will be working next week with the apples in all sorts of different ways.

Mrs. Olsen asks that the girls have their hair pulled away from their faces on gym days (Tuesday and Friday). Many of the girls have been leaving it loose and then having it in their face making it difficult for them to see to participate.

Tuesday is Picture Day. Please make sure to return the envelopes you received last week Friday. The children may be out of uniform for Picture day, but please no jeans.
