At Home Reading

In today's Friday Folder you will find an October reading graph and a sheet with the guidelines for our At Home Reading Program. This program is voluntary but we hope every family will choose to have their child participate. Please keep the graph at home and mark it each day your child reads. When you return the graph at the end of October you will be given a folder. Please return the folder along with the graph each month and we will re-stock it with a new graph and a parent tip sheet. Contact us if you have any questions. Happy reading!

Help Wanted

We are looking for parents to volunteer to help in the classroom each day. Ideally we would like parents that could volunteer for the same time and day each week but we will welcome anyone that can make time to help the children. Responsibilities would include working with individual students in reading and math or supervising a small group at a learning center. If you are available, please return the bottom portion of this newsletter. You must have a current background check on file in the office before you can begin working in the classroom. Thank you in advance. ☺
