

Media Contacts:    Jeffrey Krulwich
K Growth Associates, Inc
203.431.2299
Jeff@kgrowth.com

Lynette Mathias
TeacherWeb, Inc.
203.438.2410
lynette@TeacherWeb.com

TeacherWeb® launches new Integrated School Websites

Now maintaining the school's website is as easy as maintaining teachers' classroom sites

RIDGEFIELD, CT (March, 2006) – TeacherWeb Inc., the leading provider of websites for educators, announces a new system for school websites. It's highly flexible, as easy to customize, to update, and to manage as the teacher's individual TeacherWeb® sites. The new system has been successfully beta tested with over 125 schools across the country, and is now being made available to schools everywhere.

Many schools labor with antiquated web sites, sites that are confusing to navigate, cumbersome to update, and difficult to customize. TeacherWeb's new school website template has many features that make the school web site a powerful asset furthering communication between administrators, teachers, and the student/parent community. Popular features include easy-to-create "late breaking news" bulletins, outbound emergency emails to parents, uploading photos, and more. The integrated school website links to the individual classroom websites that the teachers have created on TeacherWeb or on the school's own server.

Surprisingly priced at under $30 per school year, the school website by TeacherWeb ® is very economical and affordable. The site is easy to set up and maintain, with the provided easy-to-follow instructions. Interested schools should contact TeacherWeb at info@teacherweb.com or visit www.TeacherWeb.com.

TeacherWeb's new integrated school site is patterned on similar design lines as TeacherWeb's websites for teachers, the premier educational website service used by tens of thousands of schools across the United States, in Canada, and abroad. With TeacherWeb®, it takes only minutes to set up a website, and keeping it updated is a breeze. No HTML knowledge is necessary. Setting up and maintaining TeacherWeb sites is easy. Entering homework, etc. is as simple as typing an email. TeacherWeb® is easily customized to suit any teacher's individual needs - extra pages can be added and renamed accordingly, such as pages for Homework, Announcements, Grades,

Calendar, Photos, Supply List/Wish List, Response (online test/quiz), Slate (online whiteboard/drawing tool) and NewsFlash (emails to parents).

About the Company

TeacherWeb® is a registered trademark of TeacherWeb, Inc. a privately-owned Delaware corporation that is the leading provider of non-HTML template websites for teachers' use in the classroom. The ease of use for which TeacherWeb® is known, as well as the great degree of accompanying customization and flexibility and ability to integrate school-wide, is accomplished through a proprietary patent-pending technology which is recognized as unique throughout the industry. TeacherWeb® was launched in 1996 by JeanneBodnar, who is the president, and by a partner in charge of web design who has since retired. Jeanne is an entrepreneur by nature, having had previous businesses as a telecommunications consultant and as the first internet access provider in the town of Ridgefield, CT. Her staff includes software engineers, marketing associates, and customer support staff.

# #