TeacherWeb® Awarded “Best in Tech” from Scholastic

Dallas, Texas. May 19, 2009 – TeacherWeb®, a leading provider of classroom, school, and district websites for educators, has been chosen as one of Scholastic Administrator’s 2009 Best in Tech for Communication Management System solutions.

“This is a great honor for TeacherWeb® to be recognized by Scholastic’s publication,” stated Drew Ray, TeacherWeb® Customer Relations Manager. “We are continuously working to improve the customer’s experience with our program by constantly enhancing our product based on customer requests.”

Scholastic Administrator provides information about education solutions and technology and leadership strategies to 85,000 of the nation’s administrators. The products chosen as the Best in Tech were hand-picked and carefully evaluated by administrator-reviewers.

TeacherWeb® websites enhance communication between the classroom and the home. TeacherWeb® offers individual classroom websites as well as school and district packages which include integrated school sites along with classroom sites.

The award was featured in the February issue of Scholastic Administrator. For more information about TeacherWeb®’s customizable websites for teachers, schools, and districts, or to schedule a web demo, visit www.teacherweb.com.
